THE INTENDED PROTEST OF GENERAL BUTLER.

North Carolina and Virginia is as yet unknown to every body, but the news will be given by his commanding staff officer. Just now, however, from the sound course he has heretofore pursued, it is evident that both departments take notice of this fact, and govern themselves accordingly; the better it will be for all parties concerned.

PIRATE.

In closing the details of General Butler's extensive tour of inspection to North Carolina, I am in duty bound to mention that he has been compelled to be absent from court—General Butler and staff, like Captain Hopper of the Spaniard, and his officers, to Major General John J. Peck and staff for their kind treatment while a passenger on their steamer, the John Parrot, and last, to Capt. J. F. Smallman of this fine boat, of which the following is a list of officers:

Captain—J. F. Smallman.
First Officer—Geo. H. Daniels.
Second Officer—Jacob Hill.
Engineman—Chief, Wm. H. Ellis; Second Assistant, Daniel Gordon.
Steward—Alfred Waits.

The city election is over. Christian Godfrey Gunther is the Mayor elect. He is, in round numbers, six thousand five hundred over Boole, and nine thousand five hundred over Blunt, in a total vote of seventy-one thousand. Thus Gunther came in first, Boole second and Blunt third. The election passed quietly. There was here and there a skirmish, a little picket firing, but nothing more.

The returns came promptly; never earlier or clearer. By an arrangement made between the Superintendent of the Metropolitan Police and the press of the city the returns were more quickly and correctly supplied than they have ever been on any former occasion. The polls closed about half-past four, the votes were counted by the judges, the result sent to the nearest police station, from whence they were telegraphed to the central police office, and from there supplied to the press. Although the votes polled were over seventy thousand, the net result was ascertained and posted on our bulletin before eight o'clock last evening. Such afeat as this was never so skilfully performed before.

But here are the returns and the names of the candidates elected:
